International Profile of the University

Giresun University hosts approximately 1,400 international students from 43 countries, reflecting its commitment to fostering a diverse and inclusive academic environment. The university offers a wide range of programs across its 13 faculties and 19 vocational schools, providing numerous opportunities for international students to pursue their academic interests.

To support international students, the university's International Student Office provides guidance throughout the application process and during their studies. Additionally, the Erasmus Coordination Office facilitates exchange programs, enabling students to gain international experience and broaden their academic horizons.

The university also offers free Turkish language courses to help international students integrate into the local community and enhance their educational experience.

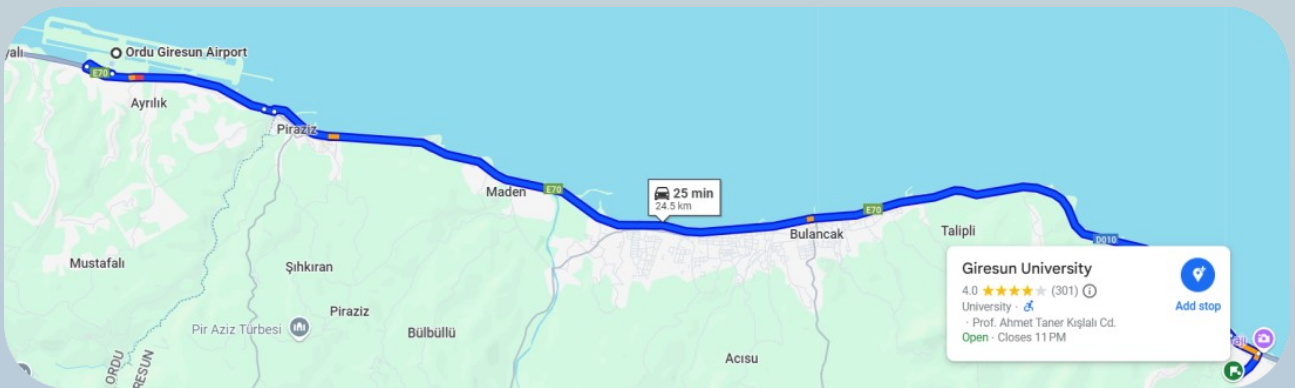

Overall, Giresun University is committed to creating an inclusive and supportive environment for its international students, promoting cultural exchange and academic excellence.
